Thursday April 14 at 6 p.m. at the Appart Renoma

Maurice Renoma stages his new artistic provocation, Anamorphose, and welcomes the public at his Appart Renoma to discover a "metarealist" universe.

In the continuity of his Mythologies du Poisson Rouge, the artist makes his goldfish Cristobal travel not around the world but across the time, where it enjoys playing with the codes of classical representation.

[ABOUT THE EXHIBITION] ANAMORPHOSE,
the new artistic creation by Maurice Renoma

Appart Renoma has been transforming to welcome Anamorphose by Maurice Renoma, who once again affirms his iconoclastic desire to break the codes: the hybridization accompanying all his work assumes this time the form of a playful and irresistible anamorphosis.

As in his work as a fashion designer, his images become materials and shapes to be modeled and mixed, in order to create bold and original associations. In art as in fashion, Maurice Renoma experiments with the patchwork technique and the reuse of images as if they were tangible elements. The codes of representation are no longer fixed: the modes of figuration are destroyed and recomposed as he pleases in order to push the imagination beyond the beaten track.

Cristobal can thus walk in the world of the image, where the laws of time no longer exist. The famous goldfish has the power to address contemporary issues and make them universal: it retells the history so that everyone can identify with it and participate in its writing.

Cristobal becomes the hero of all the classic masterpieces: Botticelli, Da Vinci, Delacroix, Ingres or Rigaud,...

Iconoclash, the head of Cristobal replaces that of the characters of our cultural heritage to create a gallery of portraits where all the characters are... Cristobal, the supreme icon!
